Northern Pacific Railroad.

Reports favoring Extension of Time for its Completion.

WASHINGTON, March 16th.—the sub-Committee of the Senate Railroad Committee to-day made a unanimous report to the full Committee in favor of Senator Mitchell's bill, extending the time for the completion of the main line of the Northern Pacific railroad to eight years. The bill as amended compels the Company to build on the south side of the Columbia river to Portland and Kalama, Washington Territory. It throws all lands open to the settlement of pre-emption, at $2.50 per acre, the proceeds to be paid into the United States Treasury and by the Secretary of the Treasury to be placed to the credit of the Company. When any section or sections of the road are completed and accepted by the Government, than the Secretary of the Treasury shall pay directly to the Company with restrictions that they shall be sold in quantities not exceeding 160 acres to one person, and at not exceeding $2.50 per acre. The bill also provides for the protection of settlers now on the lands. The even sections are thrown open to homesteads, 160 acres to each person. It also permits those who have been restricted to 80 acres under existing laws to enlarge their claims to 160 acres.

The extension is on the express condition that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company shall commence the construction of their road at Portland, Oregon, within nine months after date of the passage of the act, and construct at least 33 miles within one year thereafter on the south side of the Columbia river, and that each year thereafter the Company builds 100 miles of road, at least 25 of which shall be on the Pacific Coast.

The bill further provides that the road from Umatilla to Portland shall be a common road, for the use of the Northern Pacific, Salt Lake and South Pass Companies, under such terms as they may agree upon; and in the event of failure to agree, such terms as may be agreed upon by three persons selected by the President of the United States. The extension does not extend to the branch line across the Cascade Mountains, but lands on the branch amounting to seven million acres, are restored to the public domain, and in lieu of these lands an equal amount is granted to the Portland, Salt Lake and South Pass Company, in aid of the road from Umatilla to Salt Lake, with like restrictions as to the sale of lands by the Government, and on condition that the Company shall commence at Umatilla within six months after date of the passage of this act, and build and equip 25 miles of road within one year thereafter, 50 miles within each succeeding year, and the whole within four years from commencement of the work.

Ever since Don Cameron appeared in Washington as Secretary of War he has been devoted in his attentions to some one or more fair ladies. He has a quick eye for beauty and readily responds to its appeal. The handsome daughter of the lately deceased Judge Pascal was the first lady in this city to whom he paid devoted attention. The handsome daughter of Judge Black, Mrs. Shunk, also more than fascinated the young Senator. A feud had always existed between the houses of Black and Cameron; but this did not extend to the second generation, and through all of last winter's gay season Don Cameron was devoted to the fascinating Mrs. Shunk. Senator Cameron is a philosopher, and does not let disappointment damage his cheek. He consoled himself at once and became interested in the pretty Miss Sherman soon after he first met her early in the winter. From that time his attentions were so marked that gossip announced a marriage engagement. The young lady has been the guest of her uncle, John Sherman, all of the winter. Mrs. Sherman gave a lunch on Saturday, February 23d. There were seventy-five ladies present at this lunch. It was not given especially for the purpose of publicly announcing the engagement, but before the entertainment was over Miss Sherman removed the pledge of secrecy from her aunt, who then and there confirmed the reported alliance of the houses of Sherman and Cameron. What a sensation! Each lady present tendered her congratulations. After this every one was in a hurry to get away and be the first to tell the news. Let some apt mathematician than myself make a calculation of how many persons could become acquainted with the facts in the course of a few hours with seventy-five ladies engaged in the business of circulating the news. Many hastened from the lunch to Mrs. Hayes' reception, where each one found at least five hundred acquaintances. The Chicago fire did not spread more rapidly.—Washington Correspondent Philadelphia Times.

WEDNESDAY.....MARCH 20, 1875.

Solon Redivivus.

The California Legislature is full of notables. There was "Short bit Hanna" who wanted to abolish treating. Then there's Bones, of Alameda, who was going to arrange matters without delay, and votes by mistake so frequently that his yearning for a wise fame is likely to end in a boney discomfiture. And now John Rogers rises to his feet and under the impression that a brilliant idea has struck him, wants the law mangers to say that every box of cigars made in the State shall be stamped "made by white labor," or made by "Mongolian labor," as the case may be. We have not read many Senate Journals, but we say that if at any time any bill, in any body was introduced which evidenced more state craft and Gortschakoffian diplomacy than this one, that the record has escaped these eagle eyes. Go to, Rogers, thou hast immortalized thy family name. Generations yet unborn shall make remarks about thee, and little children shall hear with delight of the Rogerian forehead and length of ear.

It is borne in upon us that Rogers possesses one of those two-story foreheads "capacious brains, and enlarged minds" which in the political arena charms and commands. Mr. Kelly of the Appeal.

Prophetic.

The Carson Tribune is always religious and semi-occasionally prophetic. In speaking last evening of the arrival of Mr. J. C. Hagerman that journal says:

This gentleman, who is fast looming up as the prospective Democratic candidate for Governor of Nevada, put in an appearance at the Capital this morning and was warmly welcomed by a host of friends. The quid nuncs of the Capital building appear considerably annoyed at the appearance of Richmond, and well they may be, for from all accounts Hagerman will go into the convention with such a strong backing that his claims will have to be acted on favorably at the first ballot. Right here we wish to make a little prediction: R. M. Daggett will be the Republican candidate for Governor, and J. C. Hagerman the Democratic in the year 1878.

Republicans hope that Hagerman may not be nominated, because he is the only available Democrat before the people. Mr. Hagerman will get the nomination, however, and if we have to have a Democratic Governor, we want Hagerman before all the rest.

Wants to Roar.

We have read several reviews of the Eastern war situation, of Russia's encroachments, England's resistance and Austria's indifference, but none have stated the affairs so pleasantly and succinctly as the Graphic, in the following dialogue:

Russia—I want several provinces to square off my territory.

England—Now, I don't think that's right.

Russia—I am going to take those Turkish ships.

England—You shouldn't do that. Taint right.

Russia—Let's see. But that isn't near enough. I want two or three, or twenty or thirty, millions of roubles.

England—By George you'd better take Turkey and done with it.

Russia—Don't know but that I shall. Now there's Egypt.

England—Now if you touch Egypt I shan't like it. I'll roar. I can roar awful. You'd better not make me roar.

Russia—Oh roar and be—! I think I'll cork up the Bosphorus too.

England—Now if you cork up the Bosphorus I will roar. I've got 400,000 roaring men. I—

Russia—Yes, I'll put a foot on the Bosphorus.

England—Now, I'm just going to commence to roar right away if you do that. Austria will roar with me, too, won't you, Austria?

Austria—I dunno. I haven't roared for a long time. I got awful sick the last time I roared at Germany. Maybe I'll roar. I'll see. I'll think about it.

England—Well, I've a good mind to roar all by myself. I declare it's shameful. Why the man has no more conscience than a bear.

The Sacramento Bee is disappointed at Deacon Parkinson's book of pen portraits. The prevailing opinion just now is that Kearney is the only man who possesses the ability to set forth the true inwardness of a California legislator in auto-biographical form.

Workingman's Call.

RENO, March 19, 1875.

EDITOR GAZETTE: To-morrow evening, the 21 inst., the workingmen of Washoe county meet at McGinley's Hall in Reno to organize a Workingmen's Club. This is a step in the right direction to secure those benefits that can be obtained only by a perfect organization. We hold that every Chinaman employed in our county throws out of employment a white man or woman, as the case, may be, and to this extent even in Nevada. We are compelled to walk the streets in idleness, and our families suffer often for the necessities of life. I hope and trust that every mechanic, artisan and farmer in our county, will join in this movement for the right. Let them remember that in driving the white laborer and his family from our midst, they drive from us a natural source of work and trade for themselves. We, like our more fortunate men, have been used to a civilized life, and, like them, spend our money in making homes for our families, in clothing and educating them. By our trade all classes of mechanics are assisted and every business man and farmer receives a corresponding benefit. Than I ask why should they not join the movement? Certainly every interest in life and the prospects of our country calls for it. But, workingmen, it is with us; life or death, grim want, or comfortable homes. On to-morrow night by our action we will decide which we shall have. Come prepared to do that which nature's good commands—protect ourselves and families.

A WORKINGMAN.California Items.

Good growing weather prevails.

Fruit trees are beginning to bloom. Healdsburg had 62.87 inches of rain. Wild ducks are the latest grievances.

The Bee favors Tuttle's Mining bill. It is feared that the Legislature will refuse to call a Constitutional Convention.

The people want the State to print its own school books.

The lambing season has not been prosperous. Cold weather and poor mothers.

The salmon are coming up the Sacramento in immense schools.

Lucky Baldwin will furnish half the cost of a road from Lake Tahoe to the Big Trees.

San Francisco has a light touch of small-pox.

Miners in Northern California are making encouraging discoveries.

The Trinity Journal says there will be more mining done this year up in its vicinity than ever before.

Shearing season will be later than usual, owing to the poor condition of the sheep.

A correspondent of the Eureka Republican writing from Austin says:

Property has already gone up: whisky is reduced to the numerical standard of one bit: The Shoshone Kitchen sprite declines cold victuals already, and John is looking forward to picks and shovels as a refuge from the Anti-Mongolian Society's get out.

To hear a car whistle among these everlasting hills, seems as much out of place as that of a train direct from Alexandria stopping to give the passengers a view of the Pyramids, but the latter is in operation and the former is coming sure.

Of course it is but one thread in the network of roads which is bound to stretch around the valleys and crawl through the ranges of Nevada; opening up her hidden wealth, and developing resources not yet dreamed of.

Schively Furnace.

The session of the Lyceum last evening was more interesting than several preceding meetings of the Society. A large number of ladies were present, but a majority of the members were absent. The Speaker not appearing, Dr. Fred Hutchins took the Chair. After the usual red tape, T. V. Julien offered as a substitute resolution to the original bill, that women be given the elective franchise; in a word, placed on the same political standing with men. He then drew his manuscript and read a finely written, eloquent speech. Mr. Julien held that man and woman by natural law stand together, and that, as in all animal life, the privileges of the one should be, when not in violation of nature, open for the enjoyment of the other. The law of prerogative is not compulsory. The question, which is one of growing interest in this country, is in the nature of an advance movement in society, and of course finds its way hedged about by prejudice, ignorance, and multifarious opposition. But the principles upon which the right of suffrage to women are founded, are of such a character that in the end they must obtain. It is held that stable government is by consent of the governed; that taxation of property should of right have representation; that intelligent, natural citizenship should have a voice in determining public acts and measures. Women have not a definitive voice in these matters. We men claim to honor her. Do we ever think that much of this honor is quite empty, or that in restricting their sphere of action we do ourselves and them an injustice? What right have we to say to women thus far is quite sufficient for you to go. If she has the qualifications and taste for a particular avocation or the exercise of a right naturally belonging to her, by what just or lawful authority has anyone a right to say such and such, shall not be hers to do, hers to enjoy? There is much that is theoretical about this question, but in the application of pure logic to its solution, I claim that an unbiased judge must pronounce that no restrictions, not imposed on man, should be imposed on woman. Enlarge her sphere of action and she will grow stronger, more useful and more cultured. If politics is corrupting, it is so because we men make it so. If we are corrupt, what must women be? If we unite our hand and head in other affairs in life and operate more successfully then when acting singly, what is there absolutely in the way of our mutual advancement when all the avenues of trade, professional and political life are open to man and woman alike? We have not the space to devote to the opposing arguments of Messrs. Queen, Bowman and Cookes. The same question will be discussed next Tuesday evening, at which time any lady who wishes to debate the question extempore and by manuscript is invited to do so.

Weddings.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladding—Mr. and Mrs. Fiene.

On Sunday last at Cherry Creek, White Pine County, Mr. James F. Gladding, of Wadsworth, and Miss Lizzie Weber were tied together hand and fast. We have warmed Gladding that he had tendencies towards compromising himself several times. But he has trusted in himself and ignored the friendly advice, and now look at him. Mr. Gladding was Assemblyman from Washoe in the last Legislature, and Miss Lizzie Weber, that was, is niece of John Wagner of Carson. The happy couple will glad Wadsworth with their presence to-morrow, and in the evening there will be a general Gladding at Gladding's hall. Old friends and new will be welcome. Wish them joy.

And again last night the wedding bells were ringing in two happy hearts, and a circle of smiling friends witnessed the same beautiful scene in the Drama of Life. August Fiene lead Elizabeth Rink to the altar and exchanged vows with her for companionship. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Pettit at the residence of Mr. J. G. Becker, and when it was concluded the guests were invited to a bounteous feast which we hope was only a sample of the generous bounty which may fall upon man and wife. It was a comfortable wedding, and the happy ones are in every way worthy of the joy which fills their hearts to-day. We hope it may endure with life.

GOOD WORK.—Mr. Parker is giving attention to the outrages which have been practiced against the fishing interests along the Truckee river. Yesterday the Carson ranchmen received due notice. Those at Verdi will be given positive notice to construct fish ways at their dams. Parker says Nevada's fish interests shall be protected while he holds the position of Fish Commissioner. Parker is the man to stand by his word.

WANTED—A HUSBAND.—A young lady of a sweet disposition is in search of a life mate. The lady's complexion is dark, and she has grey eyes. The gentleman must be handsome and honest. Apply at this office.

Jottings.

The Odd Fellows will meet this evening and may take action looking to the observance of their annual holiday, the 29th proximo.

Our old friend L. M. McKinney is in town distributing his book "The Pacific Coast Directory." This is a book which every business and professional man should have.

The fine furniture of H. Ward's store on Virginia street, is being disposed of at private sale. Call on Chas. Jones if you desire good furniture at cheap rates.

A number of leading cattle men are in town. They hail from San Francisco, up north and elsewhere.

L. W. Lee shipped to-day, 6 cars of beef cattle to Grayson, Harrelton & Co. Oakland. The cattle came from Pitt River and belonged to G. H. Baley.

This afternoon 13 car loads of beef cattle passed west from Winnemucca.

The County Jail is being lined inside to a distance of 8 feet above the floor, with No. 12 sheet iron. J. L. McFarlin has the job.

Bianci & Co are making a fire-proof cellar under their saloon on Virginia street.

Stocks are fearfully off to-day, as the reader will see by looking over the morning Board.

The lecture of Dr. Simms last evening at the Academy of Music was listened to by a large audience. He handled his subject in an interesting and able manner, and his social readings were sounding and most entertaining.

This evening he will lecture at the same place on "Physiognomy." Admission 25 cents.

AMUSEMENT AND INSTRUCTION.—Simms lectures to-night at the Academy of Music on "Physiognomy," which is said to be very amusing. Admission 25 cents only.

FRATERNAL.

FRATERNAL.—Some ten or twelve of our Masonic friends went to Truckee yesterday to witness and assist in the conferring of an exaltation degree at the Truckee Lodge, Truckee, Cal. Their description of the affair is such that we would say Masons, when together have royal good times. The Renoites returned on the morning train. Their Truckee friends signified their intention of paying the Lodge a fraternal visit.

The Austin Reveille says that the Eureka Republican was wrong in disputing its judgment in regard to Mr. Gray's defection. The Reveille says it can throw bricks and fight and don't want to be foisted with. The Republican has climbed a tree.

Have you heard Dr. Simms? Hear him to-night at the Academy of Music.

C. J. Brookins & Co. have pianos and organs for sale or to rent. Terms reasonable.

CARD OF THANKS.

We the undersigned, wish to tender our thanks to Mr. J. A. Brunswig, State Agent, and Mr. James H. Marshall, City Agent of the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company of San Francisco, for the highly satisfactory and unprecedented manner in which the representatives of the above named Company have settled their portion of the loss, which we sustained at the late fire on Fribble's corner. We take great pleasure in recommending the Home Mutual Insurance Company to the insuring public for honest, square, and high-grade dealing.

Pope Leo wears a perpetual smile. Moody finds intellectual people the hardest to convert.

Vinnie Ream's bust of David Davis is said to resemble the Cardiff giant.

Miss Southwick expects to establish her New England cabin at the Paris Exposition.

Queen Victoria is about to make an addition to her Balmoral estate at a cost of $485,000.

Boston refused to grant Count Joannes a license to play in his thrilling and exciting way in that city.

The male chimpanzee, of the pair lately received at the New York Aquarium, has died of consumption.

A resolution before the Maryland Legislature proposes that Congress be urged to erect a monument to Baron De Kalb in Annapolis.

The oldest Catholic prelate since the death of Pope Pius IX is Monseigneur Feron, Bishop of Clermont. He has been 45 years in the episcopacy.

Messrs. Moody and Sankey never refuse a request for their autographs, notwithstanding the fact that about ten albums are left at their residence every day.

W. S. Gilbert, many of whose plays are charming poems, appeared as a harlequin in a recent performance in London, the other actors being nearly all titled people.

Ex-Speaker Schuyler Colfax prints a letter saying that "no vote, however large, would induce him to become again, as he was for twenty years, the servant of the dear public."

"Mark Twain" can start a new book in three minutes, vigorously writing the title, laying out the first chapter, etc. After that he takes it easy, and consoles himself with the thought that when he comes to die he will leave his heirs the largest legacy of unfinished manuscripts extant.

Max Muller is delighted with a work on the "Origin of Language," by Ludwig Noire, in which the latter teaches that when our senses are excited and the muscles hard at work we feel a kind of relief in uttering sounds, as when peasants thresh or soldiers march or women spin or sailors row. Sounds, he says, when originally uttered in that way, became words for conventional ideas.
